2. For the search page I think having the option to quick search for current locations or a chosen location would help usability. What do you think of pulling information from google maps or something to pre load spots near the destination?

3. Having a notes or instruction section that someone can leave for a spot, and have that information displayed when someone wants to buy a spot.

4. Putting the add option under the profile tab. Once people register for the app they most likely aren't going to add new spots.
